DEDICATION

In token of the guiding help and influence that he has shown toward Citadel Cadets through his work on the advisory board of the Citadel Y. M. C. FOREWORD

"To every man there openeth a way, and ways, and a Way." Thus begins that often quoted statement by John Oxenham. Its truth can be no better illustrated than by its application to you, the members of the Freshman Class. It is the purpose of this handbook to acquaint you in a sketchy way with the high points, the customs and traditions of Citadel Cadet life, and to make it easier for you to follow the Way. Read it through, then, and may our efforts to accomplish the purpose not be in vain.

Also to the returning upperclassmen we wish to extend a hearty welcome, and to remind them that much yet remains to be done before they write "finis" to their Cadet life.

BRIEF SKETCH OF HISTORY OF THE Y.M.C.A.

The Young Men's Christian Association had its origin in one man, Sir George Williams of London, in the year 1844. In his early life, George felt the need of daily prayer and spiritual uplift to such a strong degree that he called his friends together each morning in his establishment for a few minutes of prayer and praise service. Thus did the "Y" get its start, and ever since that date it has been growing, each year being better able to serve the cause of humanity and to aid in the spread of the doctrines and teachings of Jesus Christ. Today the organization encircles the globe, daily bringing together young men and boys into a brotherhood which keeps alive the spirit of Christ.

In order that the young men of the colleges of the world might keep in closer touch with things "spiritual" and that the Christian Spirit might reign in the hearts of students everywhere, a branch of the Y. M. C. A., the Students Young Men's Christian Association, has been organized. The Citadel is of course a member of this powerful organization. The control of the affairs of the Association is placed in the hands of the students themselves for the purpose of training them in the qualities of Christian leadership, with a general secretary to oversee the work and to advise. The realization of the purpose and principles of this student organization depends upon the interest and the wholehearted support of all students, for it is strictly their organization.

THE WORK OF THE ASSOCIATION

In seeking to accomplish the purpose for which the association has been organized, the full needs of the whole man are recognized. All normal healthy developments of cadet life are regarded as sacred and contributing to the ultimate aim of human life. To neglect a proper development along all lines of student endeavor leads to a one-sided education. Therefore, the "Y" seeks to aid in every phase of activity that is regarded as proper.

The "Y" sponsors religious work of all kinds, social activities, sports and recreation. In its religious work, the association conducts prayer services in the morning for the benefit of all who care to attend, special services every Sunday night with varied forms of entertainment, and brief chapel services each morning in the mess hall before the Corps marches out from breakfast. It sends delegations to the Conference at Blue Ridge and the State Y. M. C. A. Officers' Conference at Columbia. Also, during the year a course in Bible study by eminent leaders in religious work is given.

The "Y" assists materially in the intramural athletic program which is properly a function of the athletic department and is carried on principally by that body.

Other phases of the work of the Y. M. C. A. are too numerous to mention and the results are impossible to ascertain; but one may rest assured that everything possible is done "to lead young men to faith in God through Jesus Christ."

To aid the "Y" secretary in the undertakings of the association, several cadet committees are listed under the headings: Post Office and "Y" Office, Bible Study, Chapel Committee, Music Committee, Freshman Council, Sophomore Council, Hospital Committee, Publicity, Personal Work, and Athletic Committee. Besides being of great help in carrying on the work of the organization, these committees help to inculcate into the minds of students that the "Y" is essentially a student affair; that its success depends upon their support and co-operation.

MEMBERSHIP

All students at matriculation become members of the Young Men's Christian Association of The Citadel. According to the rule of the National Council, the membership is divided into two classes, namely: active and associate. The active membership is composed of those students who are members of and in good standing with an evangelical church. These students alone are eligible to vote and hold office in the association. The associate members, students who do not come under the above ruling, are accorded all other privileges. This division should not cause any friction in the activities of the "Y", and as long as the aim of each cadet is service to God and his fellowman, this should not.

"Y" OFFICE AND POST OFFICE

Along with the many services that the "Y" renders the Corps of Cadets goes the post office, which is not in any way the least of its services. It affords you every convenience that your home town post office does, and can give all the services that you need here. Stamps, money orders issued and cashed, registered and insured mail, etc. The hours for the mail are: Departs daily, except Saturday and Sunday, 8:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Arrives daily except Saturday and Sunday, 9:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Ready for you about 10:15 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. On Sunday and Saturday mail arrives in the morning only. Big U. S. Mail boxes outside both barracks are for mail only after 3:00 p.m. every day, as they are emptied during the week at 8:12 p.m. and on Sunday at 6:12 p.m.

Cash depository: This is for your allowances and extra cash which you don't want to carry around with you. Banking days are Monday, Wednesday, and Friday of each week, both deposits and withdrawals. Deposits, however, may be made on any day of the week. Come by the "Y" and talk this special service over with the Secretary.

Secretary and Assistants are on duty practically all day, and you can always find access to the "Y" office if you wish it, but help us keep the above hours strictly business and there won't be any confusion.

SERVICE TO STUDENTS

The Citadel "Y" is first and foremost a serving organization. Christ said: "I am among you as one that serveth." We feel that the "Y" carries out the Christian ideal if it serves the cadets in any way possible. The various duties performed by members of the cabinet and officers, working with the general secretary, are part of the "Y" program. The post office is the biggest service tendered, for the "Y" takes entire charge of this service to the college. Errands attended to in the city by our secretary are right in line with the work, and you must call on him if you want a little business attended to. Other services rendered are: daily visits to hospitals, valuables and money kept in safe, telegrams received and sent, express shipments handled, kodak work, checks cashed at bank, and many things that arise during the year. Make the "Y" your own by calling on it for little kindnesses.

BIBLE STUDY AND DISCUSSION GROUPS

The entire second term of the college year is turned over to Bible Study as the main feature of the "Y" program. Each Sunday night for ten weeks Bible study classes are organized in both barracks. There are two groups of upper-classmen and four more of Freshmen. Strong, influential leaders are secured from local churches and faculty members, who give of their best to broaden the outlook and build the best character in the student body. You won't find the time devoted to this thrown away, in fact, it will enhance greatly your college standing.

Before Christmas, the Bible study classes are replaced by song services and special services bringing special music, entertainment, and speakers.

BLUE RIDGE

Each year from June 9th to 18th, there gather at Blue Ridge, N. C., over three hundred young men from colleges representing ten of the Southern States. These young men represent the Y.M.C.A. and other religious organizations on their campuses, and come together for no other reason than to study problems relative to their colleges, to enjoy the mountain climate, and to find themselves as to life work and things religious. If you feel that you would like to go "where God speaks to man in no uncertain way" go to Blue Ridge next summer. A delegation is always sent from The Citadel "Y", and you can go just as well as another. Expenses are moderate, yet are ample to give one real satisfactory service while at the conference. Volley ball and all athletic sports are made an interesting and competitive part of the ten-day period, and you may represent your college in one or more branches. ON TO BLUE RIDGE!!

You can always joke good-naturedly about a big man. But be sure he is a big man before you joke about him—Will Rogers.

Truth crushed to earth will rise again. A lie will do the same thing.

CABINET SPRING RETREAT

Eleven years ago, in the spring of 1924, there was started what is now known as the Spring Retreat for the Cabinet. The newly elected officers and committeemen, with members of the faculty and general secretary, withdraw from the noise of the city and campus to a quiet place in a nearby community. Here plans and programs are discussed for the next year. Realizing the good to be derived from association and the exchange of ideas, the Citadel Cabinet held its Spring Retreat along with other state colleges this past year at the Y.M.C.A. camp near Columbia.

The Retreat covers the entire week-end, and during this time the student "Y" leaders hear addresses given by noted visiting speakers in addition to reports of "Y" work done in various state colleges. Plans are already under execution for the different colleges to return to Camp J. O., as it was named, for this year's Spring Retreat.

COUNCIL WORK

Early in 1933 two members of the Freshman class, inspired by attendance upon a conference, expressed a desire to see their fellow-classmen working in a council. A member of the local Exchange Club contributed lumber and nails and a council ring was built just across the railroad tracks. Here each Friday night the council, composed of twenty-five leaders, each with five members of his group, meets for a social, religious, or business session. This group will carry on through its four years.

Again this year the Freshman Council will be organized. It is an honor and a joy to be a member.

Well arranged time is the surest mark of a well arranged mind.

THE COLLEGEALMA MATER

On the shores of South Carolina
Proudly rears its head,
All hail to thee, our Alma Mater.
Conquer and prevail!
Loyal sons will ever love thee,
Honor and obey.
All hail to thee, our Alma Mater.
Citadel, all hail!

HISTORICAL SKETCH

Previous to the year 1842, the State of South Carolina had two depositories for arms and munitions of war—one known as The Citadel in the City of Charleston; the other known as The Arsenal, in the City of Columbia. These were guarded by companies of enlisted men and trained officers, and were maintained at an expense of twenty-four thousand dollars per annum.

It was Governor Richardson who made the suggestion that these garrisons be replaced by young men, who, while serving as guards, should receive military training and instruction in the practical and mechanical arts. Under the administration of his successor, Governor Hammond, an Act of the Legislature was passed on December 20, 1842, creating The Citadel and Arsenal Academies.

The Board appointed by the Governor to carry out the purpose of the Act lost no time in performing its duty and the Faculty of The Citadel was elected on February 23rd following. By the twentieth of March, both The Citadel and The Arsenal were in operation.

In arranging the course of studies for The Citadel, the report of the Board to the General Assembly says:

“The Board has aimed at a system of education at once scientific and practical and which, if their original design is carried out, will eminently qualify the cadets there taught, for almost any station in life.

During the course, besides the usual branches taught at the primary schools in the State, they will be instructed in the history of South Carolina, modern history, the French language, every department in mathematics, book keeping, rhetoric, moral philosophy, architectural and topographical drawing, natural philosophy, chemistry, geology, mineralogy, botany, civil and military engineering, the constitutional law of the United States, and the law of nations. In addition to that course they will be instructed in the duties of the soldier, the school of the company and battalion, the science of war, the evolution of the line, and the duties of commissioned officers."

The Arsenal at first co-equal with The Citadel, was soon incorporated with it, and had for its special function the instruction and training of the recruits forming what was known as the Fourth Class.

The first class, numbering six men was graduated in 1856. C. C. Tew, the first honor man of his class, and protograde of the institution, afterwards founded the Hillsboro Military Academy in North Carolina, was Colonel of North Carolina troops in the Confederate Army, and was killed at Sharpsburg, September, 1862, while commanding Anderson's brigade.

The value to the State of the military training given at The Citadel is strikingly shown by the fact that of the two hundred and forty graduates before the close of the War Between the States, about two hundred were officers in the Confederate service, and forty-three laid down their lives on the battlefield. The list of Citadel officers in the great conflict is an honor roll of which any institution may well be proud.

There are two dates in the history of the State Military Academies which mark the boundaries of this greatest Military struggle of the century. Between January 9, 1861, and May 9, 1865, what a tragic history was enacted!

On the former date Major P. F. Stevens, Superintendent, and a graduate of The Citadel, in command of a detachment of Citadel Cadets manning a battery of 24-pounders on Morris Island drove off the steamer "Star of the West" which was attempting the relief of Fort Sumter—thus firing the first hostile shot of the War.

On the latter date, Captain J. P. Thomas, Superintendent of The Arsenal, and also a graduate of The Citadel, with the cadets at his command had a skirmish with Stoneman's raiders near Williamston, S. C., thus firing the last shot of the War delivered by any organized body of troops east of the Mississippi River.

At the present time the Corps of Cadets has an annual drill for the "Star of the West" medal, a handsome trophy for the best-drilled cadet of the Corps, presented to the institution many years ago by Dr. B. H. Teague, a veteran of the War. This medal gets its name from a piece of oak wood, in the form of a star, taken from the historic vessel.

At the fall of Charleston, in February, 1865, The Citadel was occupied by Federal troops. The Corps of Cadets was at that time in the field in the upper part of the state, and never returned to the institution, which continued in the hands of the United States Military authorities, in spite of the best efforts of the State to recover it, until 1881.

In that year, Governor Hagood said in his annual message to the General Assembly:

"The State Military Academy in Charleston has been suspended in its operations since the late Civil War. This has been due to the fact that the building known as The Citadel, in which it had its seat, has been since the close of the War in the possession of the United States authorities, and has been used by them until recently as a military post.

"It is understood that the General Government is now prepared to restore it to the custody of the State. It is desirable that this property be recovered and again devoted to the purpose of higher education, in the facilities for which our needs are greater than the source of supply.

"A measure will probably be submitted to you at this session to accomplish this purpose and you will permit me to say that, in my judgment, it is now practicable to reopen the school and it ought to be done."

The Citadel was reopened on October 1, 1882, with 189 cadets, and has been in continuous and successful operation ever since.

In 1910, the Legislature fixed the title of the institution as "The Citadel, The Military College of South Carolina."

In 1918, the City of Charleston offered the State a magnificent tract of nearly 200 acres of land adjacent to Hampton Park, and beautifully situated on the banks of the Ashley River, for a "Greater Citadel". The Legislature accepted the offer and made in 1919 and 1920 appropriations for the necessary buildings.

On September 20, 1922, the college opened in its commodious new quarters, which had been provided at a cost of more than a million dollars. The facilities in laboratories and classrooms have been largely increased; dormitory accommodations have been enlarged forty per cent. and ample and beautiful grounds for all military work and athletic activities have been provided.

BE A BOY WHILE YOU CAN

Be a boy while you can, my lad,
'Tis a glorious thing to be
Atune with the sun and the woods, my lad,
And free as the wind is free.

'Tis good to have vigour in limb, my lad,
Muscle and heart to mould,
So be a boy while you can, my lad,
There's time for getting old.

Be a boy while you can, my lad,
'Tis a wonderful gift you hold—
A body and mind to be trained, my lad,
A tale to be rightly told.

The world will have need of you soon, my lad,
Strong arm and fearless heart,
Then be a man with a will, my lad,
And take a man's good part.

—Hadley Bourne.

GENERAL CHARLES P. SUMMERALL
President of The Citadel

GENERAL SUMMERALL

General Charles Pelot Summerall was elected by the Board of Visitors President of The Citadel in January of 1931. He actually took over his duties at the beginning of the fall term of the same year. He relieved the late Colonel Oliver J. Bond, who held this office for twenty-three years.

General Summerall was born at Lake City, Florida, March 5, 1867. He attended Porter Military Academy in Charleston, graduating in 1885, and then went to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. In 1892 he graduated from that institution and received his commission as a second lieutenant in the regular army. He advanced steadily in rank and became a colonel on May 15, 1917. In the same year he was promoted to brigadier general and in the following year was made a major general. By an Act of Congress he was made a general in 1929.

A veteran soldier, General Summerall has seen service in the Spanish-American War, the World War, in Alaska, and in the Philippines. He was appointed Chief-of-Staff of the U. S. Army in 1926, retiring in 1930.

Upon his breast rest many medals and awards given to him by the U. S. Government and the Allied Governments for his service and personal valor.

With such a distinguished gentleman at its head, The Citadel is certain to increase its already great prestige and become one of the greatest schools in the country.

BUILDINGSPADGETT-THOMAS BARRACKS

This huge building is one of the most imposing structures on the campus. It is four stories in height and finished in gray stucco. In it are accommodations for 400 cadets, office of the Commandant, quartermaster, the Infantry armory, barber shop, and post office. Each room opens on a gallery facing an inner quadrangle. The building is known as "Padgett-Thomas Barracks, having been named for two members of the Board of Visitors. The Infantry Battalion is quartered in this building.

ANDREW B. MURRAY BARRACKS

During the year 1926, a new barracks was constructed to accommodate 350 additional cadets. This building is named in honor of the man who generously contributed half of the cost of construction. The Coast Artillery unit is quartered here. It also quarters the Citadel tailor shop, artillery armory, a student publication room, a recreation room, and class rooms.

BOND HALL

The most beautiful building on the campus is the Administration building. It is composed of two wings which were built in 1922, and a central part which was completed in 1931. In it are housed the offices of the administration officers, class rooms, engineering and chemistry laboratories, and the library.

GADSDEN GYMNASIUM

The gymnasium was erected in 1923 with a fund of $50,000, subscribed by graduates and former cadets. On the ground floor are located lockers, dressing rooms, showers, a boxing room, and a rifle range. The second floor houses the gymnasium which is well equipped with rowing apparatus, pulleys, basketball court, and other apparatus.

MARY BENNETT MURRAY HOSPITAL

The hospital was erected at a cost of $60,000, by a public-spirited citizen of Charleston and presented to the college in 1923. It is one of the most complete and well-equipped infirmaries in the South.

LAUNDRY

The laundry building is well equipped with modern machinery. Soiled laundry is picked up on Monday mornings, and returned on Friday to the Cadets' boxes in the building.

MESS HALL

Thrice daily the Corps of Cadets is marched to the mess hall, a well ventilated structure of the same style architecture as the other buildings of the college. In the rear of the hall are kitchens, and quarters for the mess sergeant and his family.

JOHNSON HAGOOD STADIUM

All home football games are played at the steel stadium which was built as a memorial to General Hagood, a famous Citadel graduate who later become Governor of South Carolina.

ARTILLERY BUILDINGS

There are several buildings in Artillery Park which house the various heavy guns, trucks, and contain plotting rooms and laboratories.

SWIMMING POOL

The spring of 1934 saw the completion of a reinforced concrete swimming pool. At present it is open air, but plans are being made to construct a building over it which will contain a filtration plant and ample bath rooms.

THE TRACK

A cinder track was also built on the practice field that spring. It is composed of a 440 yard oval and a 220 yard straightaway.

THE LIBRARY

One of the most important complements of any college is its library. It is the final authority on almost any subject. It can give to the mind a broadness that would require years of travel and experience to obtain otherwise. Ability to use the library will be of infinite advantage both in the classroom and in other affairs even in post-college life.

The Citadel library is located on the second floor of Bond Hall. In it may be found works of various kinds: scientific, historical, classical. In general they are along lines of study pursued at The Citadel and enough information is obtainable to make students well informed if proper use is made of the library. Besides these, there is found good fiction and recreational readings, besides periodicals on current events and current literature.

AVENUE OF REMEMBRANCE

In 1922, as a tribute to the valour of those Charleston and Citadel men who died in the World War, the Auxiliary unit of the Charleston Post of the American Legion dedicated an avenue through the campus. On each side of the avenue are planted Palmetto trees, each tree a memorial to a particular soldier.

NEW BUILDINGS

After much effort on the part of General Summerrall and other Citadel officials, the Government finally appropriated a sum of around $491,000 for the construction of several new buildings on the campus. Two of these buildings, the Mess Hall and Chapel, are not only adding to the impressiveness of the campus, but more important, they are filling a long felt need. In addition to these two buildings, there are being constructed six four-family apartments for members of the faculty and their families.

The style of architecture and outside finish of these new buildings will be similar to that of the older buildings. The Chapel is designed to seat around twelve hundred people, its cost being about $200,000. It is hoped that construction of these buildings will be complete by the middle of this coming school year.

TRADITIONS AND CUSTOMS

There are certain customs of the Corps of Cadets which by long usage acquire the sanction of authority. Their strict observance has for its object the perpetuation of those practices which foster pride, spirit, and morals of the corps. Experience has proved that they are invaluable in molding character, in teaching courtesy, deference to and respect for seniors, obedience, and loyalty. They exert the most far reaching influence in maintaining the very highest standards of discipline, duty and honor in the corps. It should, therefore, be the serious ambition of every young man, immediately upon his admission to the Corps of Cadets, to familiarize himself with these customs and standards and to conform to them conscientiously, for it is through them that he will be able to acquire the true Citadel Spirit.

HONORS

THE WILSON RING

This ring, given each year by Dr. John O. Wilson, late President of Lander College, is awarded to the member of the Senior Class voted by his classmates "the purest, most courteous, and most manly" cadet in his class. This award is the most highly valued honor that a man can receive at the completion of his four years at The Citadel.

THE "W. C. WHITE MEDAL"

This medal is given annually by Mr. W. C. White to the captain of the prize company. The members of the company are also permitted to wear on the sleeve of the Full-Dress Uniform a three-inch bar of gold braid. The awards are made as a result of a competitive drill by companies.

"STAR OF THE WEST" MEDAL

Each year a competitive drill in the manual of arms is held for the "Star of the West" Medal, a handsome trophy presented to the institution many years ago by Dr. B. H. Teague, a veteran of the Civil War. This medal gets its name from a piece of wood in the shape of a star, taken from the historic vessel of that name. The competition is only open to members of the three lower classes in order that the winner may wear it as a cadet. It always elicits much interest and competition.

"ALGERNON SIDNEY SULLIVAN AWARD"

The New York Southern Society recently honored The Citadel by making it one of the sixteen Southern Colleges and Universities which have the privilege of presenting an annual award for character to a member of the graduating class.

THE SCHOLARSHIP MEDAL

A scholarship medal is awarded every year to the member of the Graduating Class who has made the highest average during the four years at The Citadel. To merit this award is indeed an honor and indicates a true superiority in the work accomplished during the college career.

THE WASHINGTON LIGHT INFANTRY TROPHY AND MEDALS

For those Cadets who are interested in small bore marksmanship there is a chance of gaining recognition of their skill with the .22 rifle in the Washington Light Infantry Match held in May of each year. A trophy is awarded to the organization whose team makes the highest score in the match. Silver medals are presented to members of the winning team, and to the individual high scorer is awarded a gold medal. All awards are made by the Washington Light Infantry.

THE AMERICAN LEGION SABER

The Charleston Post No. 10, American Legion, presents a saber to the member of the senior class who writes the best article on an appropriate military subject.

THE WILLIAM MOULTRIE SABER

A saber is awarded annually by the South Carolina Chapter, D.A.R., to the senior judged to have shown to the greatest degree qualities of leadership, military proficiency, and soldierly deportment.

THE WADE HAMPTON SABER

The South Carolina Division, U.D.C., awards annually a saber to the senior who has attained the highest standing in Military Science and Tactics.

"May I print a kiss on your lips?" I asked;
She nodded her sweet permission;
So we went to press, and I rather guess
We printed a large edition.

HINTS ON HOW TO STUDY

Many psychologists of education have worked out scientifically sound outlines to guide the student toward successful scholastic work. The one I am giving you below is based on a study made by Doctor Pressey of Ohio State University. Follow it in detail, and I can assure you that in four years you will be a graduate of The Citadel, provided, of course, you behave yourself.

I. Businesslike methods in use of time are very important for efficiency.

(a) Learn to plan or budget your time. At The Citadel you have a regular schedule for work. Make use of your time effectively.

(b) When you sit down to study, do not fiddle or procrastinate; begin at once.

(c) Plan so that when you are about to do a piece of work, you have the materials necessary. Have a note-book and form the habit of keeping it with you.

(d) Plan ahead so that you do not have to exhaust yourself in last minute preparation for some examination or other task.

II. Skill in "selective reading" is exceedingly useful and time saving, both in school work and adult life.

(a) Always make a preliminary survey of any material before reading it, to find the general organization and main points. Make use, for this purpose, of tables of contents, topic headings, summaries, and similar aids.

(b) Be sure you understand graphs, formulae, and similar means used to summarize data.

(c) Do not skip technical terms; look them up. They are an essential to an understanding of the subject.

(d) Stop reading every few minutes, and think over what you have read, trying to distinguish the most important points, making applications to what you already know, and reciting to yourself.

III. Methods of making and keeping records are an important element in efficiency in almost every form of mental work.

(a) Take notes on both reading and lectures, in brief, systematic outline form. Poor students characteristically try to take down everything the instructor says, and their notes are simply one thing after another, without any distinction as to comparative importance and organization.

(b) Keep your notes on one subject together, and assignments and notes in such order that you can readily find what you need when you need it.

IV. In any undertaking a periodic review and appraisal of what has thus far been accomplished is necessary for efficiency.

(a) Review selectively. Poor students read frantically all their material (if they review at all). Good students think over their work, and review only those points in which they are weak.

V. Good students are distinguished by the systematic way in which they write examinations and reports.

(a) Always outline a report or an answer to an essay type examination.

(b) Always allow time for reading over a report or examination before turning it in.

(c) Always read over all the questions of an examination before beginning to write, so that you can plan your time and co-ordinate your answers.

VI. Do not waste your time reading obscene and other worthless literature. To pass at The Citadel you must spend much time in earnest and concentrated study.

"For a cap and bells our lives we pay
Bubbles we buy with a whole soul's tasking;
'Tis only heaven that is given away,
'Tis only God may be had for the asking."

We are writing a gospel,
A chapter each day;
By deeds that we do,
By words that we say;
People read what we write,
Whether faithless or true;
Say, what is the gospel
According to you?

—Bishop McIntyre.

If I have helped the weak to stand,
If I have clasped some angry hand
In friendship it may be;
Or if some lonely little child
Has known my comradeship and smiled,
Then, humble though I be, I know
I have been helping God, and so
Just glad to know I have done my best,
Serene, I claim my nightly rest.

—Melvin Mortimer Newberg.

MILITARY

OUR MILITARY RECORD

The Citadel, The Military College of South Carolina, although at first established as a depository for arms and munitions of war, is now a college that hanks high in both its military and academic lines of instruction. Although academic instruction is now primary our military instruction is so thorough that we have established a military record that any institution would be proud of. Since the establishment of the college in 1842, The Citadel alumni and cadets have played prominent parts in the history of the state, and indeed, in some cases, played important parts in the history of the nation. Their services were invaluable to their state in the deadly struggle, the War Between the States; and invaluable to the nation in the later and fiercer conflict, the World War. The list of Citadel officers in both of these wars is an honor roll of which any institution of instruction in any state might well be proud. Citadel men have fought for the state on the field of battle, they have fought for the state in time of peace, and they are still fighting, and will continue to do so for the good of the state and the nation.

The training which the cadets receive has met the heartiest commendation of the War Department, which for many years has rated the institution as a "Distinguished College". The value of the training to the country is recognized by the government, which furnished expensive equipment, and details competent army officers for the instruction of the cadets in the Infantry and Coast Artillery Units of the Reserve Officer's Training Corps. The value of this instruction in the duties of the soldier, science of war, the evolution of the line, and the duties of commissioned officers, is shown by the actions of the men in actual combat.

The complete and generous education which the cadets receive at The Citadel fits them to perform skillfully and justly all the offices of a citizen, both private and public, in time of peace and in time of war. The regular habits and the attention to duty, the obedience to authority, and the love of order instilled into the cadets enable them to live lives of value and worth to mankind. The Citadel has certainly had every reason to be proud of its alumni.

ARMY DISCIPLINE

"The discipline which makes the soldiers of a free country reliable in battle, is not to be gained by harsh or tyrannical treatment. On the contrary such treatment is far more likely to destroy than make an army. It is possible to impart instruction and to give commands in such a manner and in such a tone of voice as to inspire in the soldier no feeling but an intense desire to obey, while the opposite manner and tone of voice can not fail to excite strong resentment and a desire to disobey. The one mode or the other of dealing with subordinates springs from a corresponding spirit in the breast of the commander. He who feels the respect which is due to others cannot fail to inspire in them the regard for himself, while he who feels, and hence manifests, disrespect toward others, especially his inferiors, cannot fail to inspire hatred against himself."

(Quoted by Major-General John M. Schofield, in an address to the U. S. Corps of Cadets, Aug. 11, 1877.)

SUMMER CAMP

At the close of the session in June of each year, juniors in the R. O. T. C. go to the Government camps for the special training provided by the War Department. These camps are closely supervised and furnish an excellent opportunity for the cadet to get a pleasant vacation and meet college men from other sections of the country. Transportation, meals, housing, medical attention, uniforms and pay are furnished by the government. The Coast Artillery units alternate each year at either Fort Barrancas, Florida, Fort Monroe, Va., or Fort Moultrie, S. C. The Infantry unit camps at Anniston, Ala.

FRESHMAN REGULATIONS

The following are printed with the hope that they will aid freshmen in remembering what is expected of them.

1. Recruits will at all times deport themselves in a dignified and soldierly manner when out of their rooms.

2. They will address upperclassmen by their last names, prefaced by "Mister". If the last name of the upperclassman is not known to the recruit, he will address him as "Sir".

3. In barracks they will square all corners and walk on the outer portion of the gallery.

4. They will sit at "Attention", on the forward four inches of the chair at meals before being given "Rest" and after they have finished eating, until commanded to "Rise".

5. They will not serve themselves at meals before upperclassmen.

6. They will "Double-time" up and down stairs in barracks.

7. They will meet the "Two minute steel" at formations, and will "Stand at ease" properly.

8. They will not walk on the quadrangle except when going to and coming from formations.

9. They will maintain a distance of five paces from any other recruit in front of them.

10. They will not loiter in shower room or vicinity at any time.

11. When leaving their rooms, recruits will be in proper uniform; that is, cap, gray shirt, tie, shoes, stockings, and gray trousers, unless otherwise prescribed. The only exception is on going to the shower room for the purpose of taking a shower, or returning therefrom, and then a bath-robe, cap and slippers will be worn. All parts of the uniform, when worn, will be buttoned.

12. They will not loiter on or under the galleries, in a sally port, or about the guard room.

13. They will not enter the Post Office except on business and will not loiter therein.

14. They will maintain a soldierly carriage at all times; particularly will they keep their shoulders back and their chins drawn in.

15. They will not converse with any one outside of their rooms except on business. No questions will be asked an upperclassman by a recruit until permission is first obtained to ask a question. (Example: "Sir, may I ask a question, Sir?")

16. They will not use the front sally port, except when in formation, on week-ends, or when going on leave.

17. They will salute the "Seal" on the front of Main Barracks before going on leave.

This list is not an infallible guide, but it covers the majority of rules which pertain to freshmen.

THE RIFLE TEAM

Under the direct supervision of the Military Department, the rifle team received a rather serious setback in its progress from the sickness and absence of its coach, Captain George Stewart. Beginning practice, however, in February, the team was able to enter shoulder to shoulder matches with a Marine Team from the Navy Yard, Porter Military Academy, and the Parris Island Marine Team. In addition, The Citadel fired two postal matches, one the Fourth Corps Area and the other the Hearst Trophy Match.

The trip to Beaufort and Parris Island afforded a welcomed variation to the routine of practice.

Contrary to the customs followed by other sports, Freshmen who are capable can become members of the regular team, which usually numbers around fifteen members.

COMMISSIONS IN THE ARMY

Under the Act of Congress, approved June 4, 1920, for making further and more effectual provisions for the national defense, commissions in the grade of second lieutenant in the United States Army are now made:

- (1) from graduates of the United States Military Academy.
- (2) from warrant officers and enlisted men of the Regular Army between the ages of 21 and 30.
- (3) from Reserve officers and from officers, warrant officers, and enlisted men of the National Guard, members of the enlisted Reserve Corps, and graduates between the ages of 21 and 30 years, of technical institutions approved by the Secretary of War.

Graduates who have completed the time required by the Reserve Officer's Training Corps regulations are eligible upon recommendation of the Professor of Military Science and Tactics for assignment as second lieutenants to the Officers Reserve Corps. Those members of the graduating class at The Citadel designated as honor graduates are eligible to be commissioned second lieutenants in the Regular Army, when vacancies occur, subject to physical examination only.

Citadel graduates are also eligible to enter the Army Air Corps as flying cadets of the U. S. Academies at Kelly or Randolph Fields, Texas or Langley Field, Va. They are exempt from all examinations but the physical one.

 Herman "Red" Smith, Baseball Coach, Assistant Football Coach.
 A. W. "Rock" Norman, Basketball Coach, Track and Freshman Football Coach.
 "Ed" Hall and Archie Jenkins, Assistant Freshman Football Coaches.
 Steve Gabriel, Boxing Coach.
 Major M. S. Lewis, Tennis Coach.

GENERAL

Each year The Citadel returns to some sport that has formerly been absent from our schedule, and each year The Citadel surprises the whole state by having such teams that they are the feared rivals of all. Our coaching staffs instill such spirit into the teams that the "Bull Dogs" are famous over the whole country for their fight and good spirit mixed equally with a sense of fair play.

All of the athletics here are under the control of an Athletic Board composed of several faculty members, three civilians, and one cadet. This board has done much to further sports at this college. The Citadel became a member of the Southern Conference during the latter part of February.

It is hoped that all new cadets and all of the old ones will enter some branch of these sports.

AWARDS OF THE "C"

If at the end of the season the cadet's playing has been noticeable and the coach, in his field recommends it, he is awarded the "C" and a star. Captains of teams are awarded also a crescent and watch chain. Freshmen are awarded class numerals for outstanding play.

FOOTBALL

Tatum W. Gressette, director of athletics, has been reelected to this position for the coming year. He turned out a fighting team last year and one that, in view of the scarcity of reserves and other difficulties, reflected credit on himself and The Citadel. Besides having put the routine work of coaching on a highly successful plane, Coach Gressette has won the admiration and enthusiastic cooperation of every man on his team. He builds men as well as athletic machines.

For the coming year, Mr. Gressette will be at the helm as head coach of football, and "Red" Smith as assistant. "Rock" Norman, assisted by Ed Hall and Archie Jenkins, both Seniors who have played their quota of varsity football, will be in charge of the freshman squad. With such an able staff of coaches, the 1936 Citadel teams should provide some interesting contests.

BASKETBALL

The basketball team produced by The Citadel this year measured up in all respects to the traditional fighting team which the state has admired during the past. The Corps of Cadets as well as the people of Charleston were very disappointed over the cancellation of the city championship games between The Citadel and the College of Charleston.

Although we lose two valuable men in Morrah and McGhee, it is hoped that the material from last year's freshman class will fill the vacancies.

BASEBALL

Baseball at The Citadel is rapidly receiving the prominence that it deserves as one of the best-liked college sports. This year's team, as a member of the Palmetto League, lived up to all expectations. Especially the home games showed that baseball at The Citadel is played for the love of the sport. Next year Coach Smith intends to begin the season several weeks earlier, with the hope of playing some of the Northern University teams while they are in the South for spring training.

BOXING

The boxing team this year enjoyed an unusually successful season, losing only one match and winning four. Prospects for the coming year are bright with Hugh Rogers bearing up the heavyweight end.

TRACK

Beginning its second season at The Citadel, the track team was this year under the tutelage of Coach A. W. Norman. The team entered only three meets, Wofford, Carolina, and the State Meet at Clinton. Outstanding track men for this year were Keith, Manning, and J. G. Morton.

TENNIS

After only a short period of practice, the tennis team entered its season of six scheduled matches. Although this lack of practice had a telling effect upon the smoothness of play, the outcome of the different matches was very satisfactory.

Wortham Dibble, repeating his feat of last year, again won the State Intercollegiate Championship. Prospects for next year are good with two or three promising freshmen arising to fill the vacancies left by four lettermen.

GOLF

Golf this past year at The Citadel began to show signs of life from the dormant state in which it has existed for the past few years. Due to the rather limited conditions on the campus for golfing, many cadets have taken advantage of the facilities which the Municipal Golf Course offers at a reasonable price. Two cadets entered the city golf tournament this past spring.

SWIMMING

Due to the lack of a cover over the swimming pool, The Citadel has not thus far attempted to build an intercollegiate swimming team. This disadvantage, however, does not prevent the cadets from enjoying the pool during warmer weather. For those who like basking in the hot sun and enjoying the other qualities of the seashore, there is Folly Beach about twelve miles from Charleston.

ACTIVITIES

INTRAMURALS

In past years intramural sports for all cadets were held each Saturday morning. Because of changes in academic schedules, however, physical education was available only to the freshmen on Saturday mornings. Tentative plans have been made by Coach Gressette whereby all cadets may have the privilege of enjoying during the afternoon some sport in which they are interested. It is hoped that these plans can be put into effect this coming year.

CHEER LEADERS

Citadel cheering has always been noted all over the State and even over the United States. The entire Corps backs its teams with the never-say-die spirit and its determination whether the teams win or lose. It is quite a task for the cheer leaders to teach and organize the cheers and yells so that the natural enthusiastic cheering at the games will be turned into organized applause which has been the distinctive feature of Citadel cheering sections. There are three cheer leaders: one representing each of the three upper classes. Each year the sophomore class elects its representative and he acts as such until the class graduates.

CITADEL, HERE'S TO YOU

Citadel, here's to you.
Citadel, you're true blue.
You're the best old place to go;
A darn good place to know
And you bet we'll fight for you.

Citadel, eat them up.
Citadel, beat them up.
For we'll twist the Tiger's tail
And we'll ride him on the rail,
For we're from The Citadel.

FIELD ARTILLERY

Day by day, every way, we get better as they say
Watch the Bull Dog go fighting along
Lots of pep, that's our rep, make those 'ling
Gamecocks step,
As the Bull Dogs go fighting along.
Then its Hi! Hi! Hi! for the Spirit "do or die".
Shout out the name loud and clear "Yea Bucks"
Wherever we go the other team will know
That the Bull Dogs go fighting along.

SONS OF BLOOD AND THUNDER

Ye, Sons of Blood and Thunder
 Rip that line asunder
 Give our school the victory.
 Yea, sons of shot and shell
 Give the Gamecock Hell
 Take from him the Victory.
 Onward, onward, friends against the foe,
 Forward, forward, the Blue and White will go,
 Grind that Gamecock under cleat
 See him suffer in defeat
 We will have the victory.
 Onward, onward, friends against the foe,
 Forward, forward, the Blue and White will go.
 Hear the Corps plea "Fight".
 Fight like "Hell" for Victory.

RAMBLE

Citadel had a Bull Dog with short and grizzly hair,
 Carolina had a Gamecock, now wouldn't that make a pair?
 And when they get together, there's bound to be a scrap
 Just watch the Citadel Bull Pup wipe the Gamecock off the map.
 They rambled, they rambled,
 They rambled all around, in and out of town
 Oh, they rambled, they rambled,
 They rambled 'till the Bull Dog cut him down.

GOOD BYE CAROLINA

Good-bye Carolina
 You'll now be driven back,
 As the Blue and White goes smashing
 Through the Garnet and the Black
 With a touchdown through center
 And one around the end,
 Good-bye Carolina
 Till we come back to you again.

THE SALUTE

Almost simultaneously with the donning of your first uniform, you will be taught the proper way of rendering the hand salute. Practice this salute and render it every time as you have been taught it. Above all, do not add any fanciful flourishes while lowering your hand, with the hope of making your salute more snappy. You may see upperclassmen do thus, but in this case, do not follow their example. The American salute, if executed properly, is as snappy as the salute of any nation.

REFERRING TO OTHER MEMBERS OF THE CORPS

Sir Walter Scott realized the importance of calling a man "a man". Citadel cadets, likewise, realize this and never refer to members of the Corps as "boys" or "fellows"; but always as "cadets" or "men".

CARRIAGE AND APPEARANCE

In order that one of the most cherished traditions of The Citadel be not lost, freshmen outside their rooms are expected at all times to be improving their military carriage and appearance. The best way to bring about this improvement is not by spending long hours in the gymnasium and then "slouching" every time opportunity presents itself, but by combining gymnasium work with an intense striving for a military bearing at all times. Even the latter without gymnasium work will remarkably improve your carriage and appearance.

BOOK V.

ACTIVITIESTHE SPHINX

The Sphinx, the year book of The Citadel, is one of the major publications of the Corps of Cadets. It represents the continuous toil of an earnest, patient staff, which takes pride in producing a book which may be called a real artistic achievement.

Talent for this publication comes from the student body alone, and the contents of The Sphinx are dependent upon the interesting incidents which make up spirit and life of the college.

THE BULL DOG

The BULL DOG, "Voice of the South Carolina Corps of Cadets", is the official weekly newspaper of the Corps of Cadets. In it are to be found accounts of every cadet activity, editorials, news from other colleges, in fact, a complete record of what is happening at the school. The staff is composed of cadets who are interested in journalism and writing. All cadets are urged to try out for the staff. There is always a place on it for those who are interested and who are willing to try. It is the desire of the Bull Dog Staff to make the paper one of the best in the South. With the co-operation of all this goal should soon be reached.

The Senior staff elected for the coming year is led by John W. Anderson.

THE SHAKO

The Shako, the literary magazine of The Citadel, after a lapse of two years, has again been organized and published by Cadets. Two issues, Winter and Spring, have been edited so far this year, under the supervision of Captain James G. Harrison, Faculty Advisor, and Cadet A. L. James, Editor-in-Chief.

The Shako is a member of the South Carolina College Press Association and is recognized throughout the state as one of the best college literary magazines.

PALMETTO

"The Palmetto" is the handbook of the Corps. Its primary purpose is to give the new Cadets a complete, though brief, picture of the college the corps, and the traditions and customs which make both what they are today.

ROUND TABLE

The Round Table was formed in 1927 as a substitute for the old-fashioned literary society. Captain Lyon was the moving spirit in its organization.

It is believed that this is the only organization of its kind in existence. It is composed of twenty-five Cadets and several faculty members. The members are chosen from those Cadets who evince some literary ability, and to be a member is considered a great honor. At its meetings, held bi-monthly, questions of a literary, scientific, or historical nature are discussed, each member being allowed to present his own views on the subject under discussion. Membership is by invitation only, and each new member must be approved by the faculty. For its emblem of membership the club has a key similar to an honorary fraternity key. Every year the organization subscribes to the best "Book of the Month Clubs" and at the end of the year donates the books that it receives to The Citadel Library.

THE FORUM

"The Forum" is the Citadel's debating and public speaking society. It was organized by a group of Cadets interested in forensic activities. Membership is open to all cadets who evince an interest and ability in debating. An inter-society debate is held each time the club meets, to which the corps is invited, and a number of intercollegiate debates are held with other colleges in the state every year. One of the outstanding accomplishments of the organization is the presentation of short talks over station WCSC every week in Charleston.

THE BULL DOG ORCHESTRA

For the past few years the Bull Dog Orchestra has been among the most popular college orchestras of the South. Beside playing for all of the "Messhalls", the Cadet informal dances, the orchestra has accepted many invitations in Charleston and in several other places over the state. During this past year the Corps has enjoyed the music of its orchestra regularly every Tuesday and Thursday night at supper.

THE GLEE CLUB

At present the Glee Club is under the skilled direction of Professor Ivar Skougaard, a vocalist who has trained and directed glee clubs, choirs, and a capella choruses at several of the larger universities. During the past year it rendered a number of concerts both on the campus and over WCSC in Charleston. In addition it made an extensive tour of the state, appearing at several girls' colleges. More such tours are planned for the coming year, and a large Cadet choir is to be organized from the members of the club. Freshmen, don't be modest about going out for the Glee Club, for you need not be a trained singer.

HOPS

The informal dances are termed "messhalls" as they used to be held in that building. They are now held on Saturday evenings in Alumni Hall and the music is usually furnished by the Bull Dog Orchestra. These dances begin at ten and end at midnight. Extra time is given to cadets who escort young ladies in order to get them home.

Besides the informal dances, five formal dances are given annually: the Thanksgiving Hop, Christmas Hop, Senior Hop, Spring Hop, and Commencement Hop. During the 1935-36 session the following prominent orchestras presented music for the Hops: Freddie Johnson, of the University of North Carolina; Jimmy Poyner and his Collegiates, from North Carolina State; Tommy Tucker and his Californians; Jim Fettis and his orchestra from Philadelphia.

"Cutting in" on young ladies with whom one is acquainted is permitted except during the four "no breaks" and a "senior no-break". All dances are under the direction of a Hop Committee elected by the Corps.

DANCING CLASS

For the benefit of new Cadets who do not dance or wish to learn new steps, dancing classes are held twice each week in the afternoon at Alumni Hall under the tutelage of able instructors. Young ladies from the prominent families in town are invited to these classes by the Committee of Cadets to serve as partners for the Cadets. This affords the new Cadets an excellent opportunity to meet the young ladies of Charles-

EQUITATION

Lt. Stewart of the Military Department last year organized a class in the art of horsemanship in which he acted as instructor. Any cadet interested may join the class which is held on Saturday mornings after inspection. Horses are obtained at a riding academy a short distance off the campus.

RECREATION ROOMS

Under the guidance of the Y.M.C.A. a recreation room is operated in each barracks. Each room is furnished with three billiard tables, radio, chess and checkers, ping pong tables, and reading matter.

SENIOR WEEK

One of the busiest spots of the life of the cadets is Senior Week. It is then the academic year is concluded and to each of the classes it holds individual promise. To the Fourth Class it means the end of freshman regulations; to the Third Class, week-end leaves; to the second class, summer camp; and to the First Class, graduation!

During the week, seniors are relieved of all duties and are allowed leave at all times. At the end of the week comes the Commencement Parade during which the Corps passes-in-review for the seniors, prize company drill, and drill for the "Star of the West" medal.

FRESHMAN WEEK

This year for the first time the college will have a "Freshman Week". All new cadets will report to The Citadel on Monday, August 31, the college opening the following Saturday. During these five days various tests and orientation lectures will be given. The first year men will hear lectures on the proper method of study and the correst use of the library. There will be at least one trip about Charleston and the immediate vicinity under supervision of the "Y" Secretary and Cadet "Y" leaders in order that the new men may become oriented and acquainted with the city in general.

In addition to the above activities preliminary military training will occupy a portion of "Freshman Week".

ASSOCIATION OF GRADUATES

The Association of Graduates, organized in 1877, has been an active agent in promoting the best interests of the Alma Mater. The annual meeting and banquet are held at The Citadel on the annual Home-Coming Day in the fall. Various cities throughout the country have Citadel Clubs which hold banquets and dances during the year, and act in the interest of the College. At the present time Clubs are active in the following cities: Charleston, Charlotte, N. C., Greenville, Aiken, Augusta, Ga., Florence, Spartanburg, Greenwood, Kingstree, Orangeburg, Washington, D. C., New Orleans, La., and in Richland and Anderson Counties, S. C.

The measure of a man's real character is what he would do if he knew he would never be found out.—Lord Macaulay.

The secret of life is not to do what one likes, but to try to like that which one has to do; and one does like it—in time—Dinah Mulock Craik.

I count him braver who overcomes his desires than him who conquers his enemies; for the hardest victory is the victory over self.—Aristotle.

MISCELLANEOUSLIST OF CHURCHES IN CHARLESTON

Cadets, your church denomination is listed below. Look up your church's location and attend the very first opportunity you get. Go up and introduce yourself to the pastor. He is interested in you and will help you wherever possible. If you like, the "Y" will furnish you with an affiliate membership card, which does not affect your membership at home, and becomes cancelled upon graduation or removal from the city.

Attending some church regularly is the best habit a young man can cultivate, and goes all the way in forming right characters.

SMILES

People are always friendly with the man or woman with a smile. They can't help it. A smile is persuasive; it is magnetic; it is infectious; it pays dividends.

Cultivate the smiling face. Nature meant us - to smile. Put on your smile as you do your clothes. When you wear a pleasant look you get a pleasant reception.

A smile works both ways. It builds success and it builds you. Don't save it for social events. Use it in business. Use it every day—in every way.

—The Art of Living Successfully.

The greatest curse you can have is enjoyment of wrong.

NO!

- No good is too good to come true.
No right is too right for man to know.
No wise man will quit a certainty for an uncertainty.
No man can make a figure in company that has a mind as narrow as the neck of a vinegar bottle.
No wisdom is complete without frankness.
No man is completely defeated whose principles survive.
No one should be without a reason for his faith.
No toil, no hardship, can restrain ambitious men inured to pain.
No man is free who does not command himself.
No man can be master of other men, who is indifferent to his own life.
No man is more cheated than the selfish man.
No man of sound nature ever makes a mock of reverence.
No man's religion ever survives his morals.
No man can leave a better legacy to the world than a well educated family.

NO!

Taken from The Art of Living Successfully.

The educated man is a man with certain subtle spiritual qualities which make him calm in adversity, happy when alone, just in his dealings, rational and sane in the fullest meaning of that word in all the affairs of life.

—Ramsay MacDonald.

LIVE IN THE PRESENT

Forget the past and live in the present hour;
Now is the time to work, the time to fill
The soul with noblest thoughts, the time to will

Heroic deeds, to use whatever dower
Heaven has bestowed, to test our utmost power.

Now is the time to love, and better still,
To serve our loved ones, over passing ill
To rise triumphant; thus the perfect flower
Of life shall come to fruitage; wealth amass
For the grandest giving ere the time be gone.

Be glad today, tomorrow may bring tears;
Be brave today, the darkest night will pass,
And golden rays will usher in the dawn;
Who conquers now shall rule the coming years.
—Sarah K. Bolton.

The way to success in this great country with its fair judgments, is to show that you are not afraid of anybody except God and His final verdict. If I did not believe that, I would not believe that people can govern themselves.
—Woodrow Wilson.

“He who has a thousand friends has not a friend to spare
And he who has but one enemy shall meet him everywhere.”
—An Eastern Proverb.

Nothing can be great that is not right.
